A Card from Gen. Scott.

[From the National Intalligencer of the 28th.] My attention has been called to a letter addressed to the people of Tennessee by Gen. Pillow, in which he criticises my campaign in Mexico with the boldness of a master in the art of war, and at the same time eulogizes his own services therein with a hearty good will that leaves nothing to be added. I do not propose, at present, to disturb that self-laudation, nor to reply to his animadversmall grain of truth with a large portion of fiction, so as to give it with the carcless all the effect of gross falsehood. If such tricks can influence the public mind to my prejudice, I shall then begin to regret that I was born an Ameri-

Without, then, entering upon any formal recrim ination of Gen. Pillow, or defense of myself, I shall proceed at once, in behalf of others, to no tice some two or three points in his address, in the way of an explanation, and if I chance to go beyond this it will be merely incidental.

Gen. Pillow now says that, by agreement, Mr. Trist engaged to pay to Gen. Santa Anna "cash in hand as earnest money, ten thousand dollars," to induce him to entertain negotiations for a peace; and that subsequently Mr. T. told him, (Gen. P.) "that Geu. Scott had furnished him, T.) the money, and that he (Mr T.) had paid the ten thousand dollars."

Being morally certain that Mr. Trist neve made such declaration, it is uscless to say that I possession while in Mexico; and never more than sufficed for his very moderate expenses in his pri vate purse; and I certify on honor that I never at any time, paid to Gen. Santa Anna, or caused to be paid to him, or to another for his use or bene fit, one dollar or more, on any account or in any way whatever. President Santa Anna was at the time, as now, worth millions, and had in that of fice, the irresponsible control of all the pecuniary

This blunder of Gen. Pillow, grew, no doubt, out of some hint he confidentially picked up about headquarters that I had paid that precise sum "to—and—" for important information received and to be continued from the enemy's camps and armies. [See my account current with the War Department of secret disbursements, printed by order of the Senate, February 4, 1857. It was lucky, therefore, that the names of and — were never confided to Gen. Pillow, as it is certain, from the example before us, he would, contrary to the faith and honor of our country, have published them in full, to the ruin of the parties and their descendants. Even Gen. Santa Anna, if General Pillow's credit be worth anything could not now return to Mexico, no matter under what pledges, to lead the life of a good and peaceful citizen. Writing to the Secretary of War from the city of Mexico, Feburary 6, 1848, I said: I have not reported on the subject of secret dis-bursements since I left Jalapa, first, because of the uncertainty of our communications with Vera Cruz; and, second, the necessity of certaiu explanations which, on account of others, ought not to be reduced to writing. I may, however, briefly add that I have never tempted the honor, con-science, or patriotism of any man; but have held

And again, at Washington, June 28, 1848; on rendering my account current of secret and other disbursements, and asking for a final settlement, I

No man was more admired than the latter for his quiet unobtrusive manner and amiability. He was eagerly received and honored by all foreigners of distiuction, diplomats and others, with whom he came in contact, and under one signal disadvantage negotiated a most important treaty, which was here gladly accepted by the Senate and country. For this great service he is still without reward.

Letter from Ex-President Tyler on Gen. Pillow's Address.

[From the Richmond South.]

New York, Tuesday, Sept. 22, 1857. My DEAR SIR: Owing to my absence from home, it is only this morning that I have been in-formed of your call upon me, through your paper of the 14th inst. to furnish an explanation to the public of the extraordinary statement to be found in Gen. Pillow' late letter; which he bases on the authority of Mr. Trist, that, during the negotia-tion of the Washington Treaty, and to secure its consummation, I had used $500,000 out of the se cret service fund in purchase of the political press of the State of Maine. The letter is not before me, but I quote the substance of the statement. confess that the utter absurdity of the statement had consigned it to the same class with the many similar ascriptions and absurdities which have from time to time been alleged against me and my Administration, and which I have regarded as wholly unworthy of notice.

I am only surprised that one so enlightened as garded so rediculous a statement as worthy of repetition. Five hundred thousand dollars from the secret service fund in purchase of the press of the State of Maine! If Gen. Pillow had tak en the precaution to have looked iuto the acts of Congress making appropriation to the contingent fund for diplomatic intercourse commonly known as the secret service fund, he would have seen that the largest amount appropriated any one year, during the time of my official residence in Washington, did not exceed $30,000, and that, in asmuch as the negotiation referred to occurred in 1842, there had at the time been but a single appropriation made to the fund, and that of the assision of 1841-2, I think it would have puzzled Cocker to have obtained $500,000 out of $30,-

I will take occasion to add that the fund, although called secret, is as public in most of its outlays as any other fund belonging to the Government. It is applicable to the many items growing out of the necessities of foreign missions

Dinner at Nahant House-Irruption of the Tooth Doctors-Grand Dental Chorus-Fearful Dental Exercises, &c. NAHANT House, Aug. 6th, 1857.

While deeply interested in the discussion of the luxurious repast provided for the happy guests of this mansion yesterday afternoon, my attention was diverted by the sound of music of a wild never turned over a dollar to him for such or any other purpose whatever, and am very sure that Mr. T. had not a dollar of public money in his possession while in Mexico; and never more than represents the "groans of the wounded," accompanied by an unlimited amount of exertion on the part of the operator on the bass drum. Hastily rushing to the window, bearing elevated on my fork a large potato, from which I had partially removed the cuticle, (Stevens gives us en rmous potatoes, it takes twenty minutes to skin one properly,) I beheld a procession, numbering some three or four hundred, all in their Sun-day clothes, every man with a cigar in his mouth means of his country. It is hardly probable, therefore, that he would have stooped to pick up a sack of ten thousand dollars in gold, if he had a sack of ten thousand donars in gold, in he had accidentally stumbled upon one in a private walk.

This blunder of Gen. Pillow, grew, no doubt, long pull, a strong pull, and a pull all together."

Judge of my astonishment and delight in re cognizing in the beam of this banner my old friend, the philanthropic Tushmaker, of wide-spread dental renowu. As the procession reached the front of the botel, each man threw away his cigar, and having replaced it by a large quid of tobacco, defiled on the esplanade beneath the piazza in a tolerably straight line, and, then gazing intently at the windows, opened his mouth, from one auricular orifice to the other, and show ed his teeth. Never have I seen so glittering a display.

Filled with curiosity, I was about to ask an ex planation, when my friend, Doolittle, from Androscoggin, who had rushed to the window at the same time with myself, saved me the trouble, by demanding with an incoherent and exceeding ly nasal pronunciation,—

"Why, what on airth is this ere?"
"This," replied the courteous Hiram, whose suavity of manner is only equaled by the beauty of his person, "this, sir, is the American Dental Association, composed of members from all parts of both continents, and the British West India Islands." "Jerusalem?" said Doolittle, "three hundred tewth carpenters!"

It was, indeed, a thrilling spectacle, to think of the amount of agony that body of men had produced, and were capable of yet producing.—to think of the blood they had shed, and of their dar ing and impetuous charges after the gory action was over! The immortal charge of the six hun dred at Balaklava was not a circumstance to the charges made daily by this three hundred.

As Hiram had truly said, these were dentists from all parts of the civilized world and elsewhere. These, with other sentiments of a similar meritorious character, were given, and received with great applause.

From the Louisville Journal, Oct. 2. Suspension of a Louisville Banking House.

We regret to learn that the old and highly reputable banking house of Hutchings & Co., have found it necessary to suspend payment. We un derstand that their assets largely exceed their liabilities, and that they will be converted in the least possible time and applied to the liquidation of their debts; and that their suspension will probably be only of short duration. Messrs. H. & Co., are we believe, the oldest private bankers in this city, and we deplore the extraordinary condition of the mouey market that has compelled them to close their doors.

P. S. Since the above we learn that the assets of Messrs. Hutchings & Co, exceed their liabilities $140,000 Their failure has been occasioned by the heavy debt they had to carry for the Locomotive Works, which they were compelled to purchase about eighteen months ago, to save themselves from a heavy loss. They have made

Another Suspension .- The banking house of Messrs. John Smidt & Co., generally known as the German Savings Bank, closed doors this morning. Their depositors are mostly Germans among whom the suspension produced great ex citment. A committee is now examining their books by their request and will report their conlition. From the well known high character of these gentlemen and the manner in which their business was conducted, we feel justified in saying that they will pay every cent of their indebtedness. Their suspension is but tempora-

The suspension of the two private banking louses caused, of course, some excitement this norning, and the demands on the other banking louses were quite heavy, but they were met with

The regular banks are proceeding as usual .-There are no unusual demands on them. We trust and hope that our citizens wil exercise forbearances in the present crisis.—

By aiding one another, it will be passed without any further disasters, and all will be well.

The foregoing was published in the Bulletin of resterday. We are happy to state that early in the afternoon confidence and good feeling was quite restored. By 1½ P. M. all the local panic was over. The excitement rapidly subsided, and when it was found that, notwithstanding the constant drain of deposits from many of our principal banking houses, there was no sign of any weakness appropriate any area was the constant. As weakness, apprehension gave way to confidence and the conviction seemed at last to have settled in the public mind that there was no occasion to doubt the solvency of all the leading banking nonses. Many of them sustained a heavy run. The demand was made principally upon A. D Hunt & Co., who paid ont a very large amount, and, to manifest their entire willingness to meet every demand, kent their doors open long after null the usual hour for closing them. They will Co. promptly satisfy all demands.

John Smidt & Co., report that the assets amount to $110,532, and the liabilities are only $98,084, The committee also report that this house will e able to resume in a week or ten days, and will be fully competent to pay all their debts in specie on or before the first day of January next.

As an evidence of the good standing of our principal banking houses, we may mention, that while crowds were at the counters of some of them demanding their deposits. some of our best and most influential and respectable business mer made large deposits at the same counters.

In addition to these evidences of confidence, umber of our wealthiest citizens and merchants have nobly come forward and pledged their prop erty to guarantee the full payment of the depo at most of the banking houses.

THE CITY OF BALTIMORE.—The slanders pour ed out upon the city of Baltimore by the Demo cratic organs throughout the country have been omptly refuted by the Baltimore press, with the single exception of the Republican, the Democratic organ there, which originated all these vile calumnics. The Clipper, alluding to the

It is false that Baltimore is decreasing in trade under the rule of American officers—on the con-trary, an examination of official documents will prove that there has been a steady increase of siness and of prosperity.

Our city is expanding in size-increasing in its population—multiplying its buildings—and, in every respect, progressing in prosperity equal to any other city of the Union; and yet we hear a perpetual howl about its degeneracy in character, and the dread of country merchants to resort to take as a place of business. There is no city of the where there is more safety for person and property than in Baltimore-notwithstanding the ccasional outbursts of passion and of lawless riolence committed by partisans. These emeute have nothing to do with the personal safety of strangers who visit our city either on business o for pleasure. They are local in their character and are chiefly attributable to the desperate effort which are being made by a foreign portion to lord it over the native population. Let these faction-ists cease their struggle for power, which they can never regain, and the city will not be disgraced by rows, and all will again be tranquil. But, whilst foreigners, armed with weapons of death bearing the United States stamp upon them, con tinue to shoot down native citizens, their organs may reiterate it forever, and there will ! peace. Americans cannot be made like the Chinese, to bow in submission to the master who chastises them, and thank him for his condescen sion. No; they are able and disposed to give blow for blow—and it will go hard if they do not better their example.

SEPARATING THE SEXES IN SCHOOL .- On this point, Mr. Stowe, a celebrated Glasgow teacher, uses the following language:

The youth of both sexes of our Scottish peas antry have been educated together; and as a whole the Scotch are the most moral people on earth. Education in England is given separately, and we never have heard from practical mer that any benefit has arisen from this arrange Some influential individuals there mourn over the prejudice on this point. In Dublin, a large number of girls turned out badly who had been educated alone until they attained the age of maturity than of those who were otherwise brought up; the separation of the sexes has been found injurious. We may repeat that it is impossible to raise boys morally as high without girls. The girls morally elevate the boys; and the boys intellectually elevate the girls. But more than this, girls themselves are morally ele vated by the presence of boys, and boys are intel-lectually elevated by the presence of girls. Girls prought up with boys are more positively moral; items by Telegraph.

All but fifty thousand dollars of that amount has been drawn from the treasury. The present time was chosen for the investment in order to contribute something towards the relief of the money market, while one hundred and eighty thousand have been released in the trans-

There was no meeting of the Cabinet to day, owing to the absence of the President, who was detained at his country residence in consequence of a severe cold.

A negative answer has been given at the gener al land office to inquiries as to whether a number of persons forcing themselves into a joint session can have the benefit of the graduation act by becoming settlers on the public lands—not for their individual benefit, but for their common interest. The ground for this answer is, that the gradua tion act was intended for the benefit of actual settlers and cultivators of the soil, only, and not for speculators, and that the rights given by it are personal only, and because of actual settlements already made or contemplated.

The American party has had more abuse heaped upon it than any other party that ever had an existence, and has been denounced for a less cause than any other. And, as is perfectly natural in such cases, its opponents in different sections of the country differ very materially in their vituperations upon it, and in their reasons for rejecting its principles. The Black Republicans in the North denounce the American party, and are opposed to the native American feature of the American platform because it overthrows their absurd and ridiculous theory of human rightsthat every man by virtue of his humanity has a right to vote in this country. They are also opposed to this peculiar feature, because it prevents the alien from voting in the Territories and new States-the aliens being, as they allege and as circumstances prove, the best friends of Free-Soil, and being hereditarily and instinctively opposed to domestic slavery. On the other hand, the South ern Democracy denounce the American party because, as they assert, the Americans are leagued with the Black Republicans and are opposed to the admission of slavery into the new Statesand this charge is brought against them in the face of the well known fact that the American voters of the South own the majority of the ne groes. These charges disprove one another, the witnesses disagree upon material points and are entitled to no sort of credit. Before long their testimony will be ruled out of court. The National American party is neither a pro-slavery nor an anti-slavery organization, but was found ed on a principle distinct from that hobby and is no manner connected with it. It recognizes the rights of the States in which slavery exists to the possession of their slaves, and it would enforce all existing laws upon the subject. As regards slavery in the Territories, it recognizes the prin ciple that the citizens of the United States, residing in those Territories, should settle the ques tion for themselves when they form a State Constitution. The true reason for the hostility exhibited towards the American party by the sectionalists, North and South, is, that it is opposed to the agitation of the slavery question. These parties live on the agitation of the subject of slavery, it is their meat and drink, without it they can not exist, and their hate towards a party which would deprive them of the means of sub sistence is quite natural. These sectionalists are disunionists, and despise the American party for resisting their insane attempts. In the South they brand us as submissionists, and in the North as dough faces. We certainly cannot be both .-The American party in the North are anxious to inculcate a friendly feeling towards their South ern brethren, and hence they incur the dipleasure of the Northern fanatics; the Southern Americans denounce the violence of a Brooks, a Keitt, and the hair brained folly of Toombs, and so encounter the wrath of Southern fire eaters. The following pithy paragraph from the Terre Haute Union, admirably sets forth the position of the three parties.

If you find a Southern paper contending for a revival of the slave trade or a dissolution of the Union, it is Democratic. If you find a Northern paper contending for the abolishing of slavery or dissolution of the Union, it is Republican .-Wherever you find an American paper, whether North or South, you will find it repudiating both these ideas and standing by the Union at every hazard. These are facts for serious reflection.

To Before long all the feathers will be nicked gentlemen in reply, and there bids fair to be a rear. He will not even have a ditch left to hide in. In our last issue we publish his letter at length together with the answer of Gen. Hitchcock. We need not inform all those who have read the two articles that the card written by the Railroad bonds, latter was a perfect exterminator: but, in violation of the settled principle among men never to kick a dead dog, Gen. Scott and ex-President Tyler have come out in two letters exposing Pillow still more completely. We refer our readers to their letters which may be found in another column Hitchcock slew the gentleman from Tennessee who aspires to the Senatorship, Scott and Tyler have buried him and covered him over, but to Pillow himself is due the credit of digging the ditch into which he has been so unceremoniously

We regret to state says the Lexington Observer, that the private banking house of TAY-LOR, SHELBY & Co., of this city, found it necessary to suspend payment on Wednesday morning. The house, we understand, is meeting all demands against it by an exchange of unquestioned notes and bills, and that it is fully able in this way to discharge all its liabilities. The difficulty of realizing money upon the best securities, in the present stringent condition of financial affairs, caused the suspension. We understand that it is probable the house will resume business in a short

Little or no excitement followed this suspension, and our public and private banks are going on as usual, without any extraordinary demands being made upon them.

We publish below, at the request THE COMMONWEALTH, of the Rev. B. T. CROUCH, Sr., chairman of the Committee on Temperance of the Kentucky Conference, the report of that committee, made to the Conference at its recent session in Lexington:

Report on Temperance.

Much has been done in the cause of temperance and much is still being done, to give it a proper place in the estimation of the public; to secure to it appropriate appreciation in the various circles of social life; to give it prominence as a vital element in the great business transactions of nations -especially of this nation; to send it home with point and power to every human conscience, and to rally the churches to the great object of its final triumph. But yet it languishes! To this noble work many of the most talented men of this nation, and others, have given their time and applied their energies; in it thousands of treasure have been expended; on it able volumes have been written, and for it fervent prayers have been offered. But yet it languishes! Up to this hour, it is a matter of deep regret, that the vital connection of this noble cause with the best interests of nations, of States, of communities of all kinds, and of individual man, is but partially understood, less cared for, and least of all acted upon in prac tical life. But why should such a cause lan guish? Why has it not accomplished more? Why is not its noble work done? To these interrogatives the proper answer is, not because its enenies are its enemies, but because its friends are not sufficiently its friends; not because its enemies are violent, but because its friends are tame and careless; not because its enemies do much, but because its friends do little. The organized novement for the cure of intemperance, which in various forms of magnanimous association, has long presented a bright page in the history of this nation, has certainly achieved much, both for society and for inviduals; and, although the achieve ment is small in comparison with the much that there is to do, yet that small achievement pretty clearly indicates what might have been done what most certainly would have been done, if all the friends of temperance had been as united and zealous in the effort for the cause as its enemies have been against it.

Temperance, by the appointment of heaven, s a vital element in the honor, the prosperity, and the happiness of every man singly, and of all men collectively. Intemperance ruins all it conquers: -it conquers but to ruin; and that ruin is most disasterous and consummate, involving, as it does, family and fortune, soul and body, time and eter-

In view, therefore, of the absorbing interests comprised within the wide range of the temper ance movement of the day, your committe beg leave to commend that movement to the continued favor, and renewed sympathy and support of the Conference, by offering the following resolutions, viz:

1. Resolved, That intemperance, viewed in con nection with the legal means of its support and perpetuation in this country, is an evil of such nagnitude as to call loudly for correction and cure by appropriate intervention of law.

2. Resolved, That we fully sympathize and affil iate with the friends of temperance in general, in the judicious temperance movement that long ha been, and still is in progress, the object of which is to do away the traffic in ardent spirits, and thus save the country from the curse of intemper-

UNITED STATES STOCKS ABROAD .- The London Times, in the course of a recent article, stated that the United States stocks held in England were to kas, and redowas, wherein young girls, just bud the extent of from eighty to one hundred millions of pounds sterling, that is from $400,000,000 to $500,000,000. This must be an error; for accordfrom Pillow. His letter has called out several ing to the United States Treasury report for 1856, the total amount of American stock held by for long continued war upon him both in front and eigners, so far as the returns were received, amounted to $202,922,937. Thus:

Miscellaneous bonds, It is right to add that all the returns were not obtained, but, making the most liberal allowances for absent accounts, it may be fairly inferred that the entire amount of stocks held in Europe does not exceed $300,000,000. Such at least is not the whole life of woman, and her mission. was the impression when a previous return was ordered.

> The Rev. L. W. Seeley has resigned the pastorship of the High Street Baptist Church in Baltimore, and returns to his native State, Kentucky. The Baltimore Sun says that, during a residence of two years in that city, he has won the regard not only of the members of his own con gregation, but of all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance.

D Samuel Laird, a ruling elder of the church of Horeb, near Lexington, Ky., has lately purchased and deeded to the church of which he is a member, a handsome and neat brick parsonage, sermons profitably, he must be an extraordinary costing over $4,000, with several acres of land attached to it. Modern Licentionaness.

Every reader of newspapers, says the Commer cial Review, has noticed the alarming increase in the number of cases of licentiousness which have been recently reported by the press. It is almost impossible to find a journal whose columns do not teem with instances of outrages against virtue and propriety, or of violations of those laws which govern all well regulated society. No class of men seems to be exempt from these crimes. The proudest and wealthiest, the man of heretofore ner. unsullied reputation, the husband and father even the minister at the altar, are proclaimed alike guilty with the meanest and most depraved of society. Judging the country by the newspaper reports, Brigham Young might well bid the gentiles to clean the Augean stables beside their own homes, before demanding the removal of the filth from his doors.

It is worth while for the moralist to inquire into the causes of this wide-spread evil; it is worth while for the journalist to ask himself if no blame can attach to him for the course he pursues in reference to the matter. The moralist will doubtless tell us that the basis of all this evil is to be found in the education of our girls. Women who are constantly taught that the great end and aim of their existence is merely to attract the butterflies of the other sex are n great danger of making their persons, rather than their minds, that source of attraction. It is not difficult to persuade the young girl just entering upon womanhood that, if she vie successfully with her friends in the extent of dress below her waist and the frugality of it above that point, she will have accomplished a great purpose. It is not difficult to persuade her that she is already fitted for society at an age when, in reality, she should scarcely be out of her nursery. It is not difficult to prove to her that the presence of her elders in the parlor, or at the festive gathering s an insult to her dignity not to be borne. It is not difficult to impress upon her mind the idea that the prattle of boy-and-girl-hood is preferable to the genial intercourse of maturity. But these things once established, it is difficult to destroy the evils they have produced. It is right and proper that girls should be fitted to take their places in society, but it is well to consider what is meant by society. Jejune girls and immature boys can not constitute society in its proper sense. Nor is it for society, properly so called, that girls are now educated.

Who is there that is not forcibly struck at every vening party, private or public, with not only the number but the forwardness of young persons in these places, whose chief aim is to be conspicuous, not from superior attainments, but from unblushing effrontery; and the example thus set by boldness in thrusting itself boldly forward is copied by those still younger, until imperti nence becomes impudence, and the blush of modesty gives way to shameless boldness. We would not debar any young person of an enjoyment that is rational and innocent, but we conscientiously declare that we feel a secret sorrow for the future of those young people who have no youthful days, who have no subordinate scason of life. A fruit that ripens in its greenness will be rotten ere its maturity—the hot house-forcing system which makes girls and boys men and women, without a noviciate of youth, is execrable. Every craft and profession requires a certain time to learn; then surely a knowledge of the proprieties of manhood and womanhood are subjects for constant tuition

A dance may not be an evil recreation, but the lascivious performances of the age which go under the names of polkas, schottisches, mazour ding into womanhood, are thrown into the arms of young men who are mere acquaintances, and often strangers, can not create any other senti ment or sensation than that of licentiousness How painfully common it has become to see in a newspaper that, at a certain party, Miss Blank waltzed exquisitely and exhibited a beautiful foot and ancle, that Miss Star was charmingly arrayed 72,931,507 in the most decollete manner, and Miss Initial blazed in satin and diamonds. Now, how do these young women return home from these balls or parties, richer in ideas? intellectually an inch taller? more cultivated, complaisant, or courteous in demeanor? Not so-but more frivolous from silly flattery, more puffed up with vain pride from newspaper notoriety, and more anxious than ever to enter the lascivious lists, where sensual blandishments are made to prove more attractive than the substantial intelligence of womanhood -where the flaring flowers of artifice win more admiration than the modest violets of virtue. It that Cashmere goats should furnish her shawls-Persia her perfumes-Italy her songs-the looms of France her garments-Austria her dances, and fashionable churches her religion, while vapid tissues of romance from improbable novels furnish her literature. This is not enough to constitute a woman, a true woman, fit for a companion, a wife or a mother-fit for a friend and the instruc tress of a rising generation. Yet how does ou, press, as a body, foster and perpetuate this folly! Instead of applying the brand and searing the head of this moral hydra, by devoting attention to the culture of the pure, the beautiful, the useful; and scathing to the quick these painted vices, it rather contaminates and pollutes the public and private mind by a never-ending, daily array of all manner of possible crimes, with their most disgusting details, and thus creates an appetite for things the most morbid and revolting, and thus familiarizes the youthful mind with loathsome vulgarity and obscenity, so that the serpents of vice are suffered to crawl in disregarded until their deadly stings are felt, and the cie. poison has done its fatal work. Send not your maiden to a brothel to be taught morality, nor place in your child's hands, a book or paper whose contents are unchaste and criminal, and whose moral is infamy.

> BREAKING THE SABBATH .- Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, deprecating the custom of repeated ser vices on Sunday, says that the first service is usu ally cream, the second milk, and the third milk and water, and the last is the one that usually sticks by the hearers of the three. A man who has a family, and goes to the Sunday school in the morning at nine o'clock, to church at half-past ten o'clock, to church again in the afternoon, and then again, perhaps, in the evening, ought to be tried for breaking the Sabbath. If he could hear three genius at hearing.
